TALLER STYLE

The Taller Style shed is a bit of a mix of the Standard and Cottage Style sheds. It's got the Apex to the front like a Standard, but it has an 8ft height like a Cottage. They're great if you have awkwardly sized things to store, or just if you need a bit of headroom in your shed. They're the most popular choice for workshops, home gyms or for placing pool tables in!

Additional Details

You will require a relatively level ground for your wooden shed to be built onto. You will also need to have the appropriate amount of 3" or 4" solid concrete blocks on site for the assembly team to build your shed upon. You can see how many are required beside each size on the products in this brochure. If you have any questions about this, please call us at 01 864 4247 before you order.

Lead-times on sheds can vary depending on season but you will be advised of your lead time at order. During the off-season, sheds can be built in 1-3 weeks and during the high season, it can take up to 12 weeks.

Rustic Sheds are very basic sheds. In exposed areas where heavy rain may blow against the shed, rain will soak through the timber causing the shed and its contents to get damp. We do not recommend that you place electronics or anything else that could be damaged by damp in a Rustic Shed.

During the sales process it will be necessary to pass your details on to third party bodies to complete the manufacture of your shed. Sheds Direct Ireland are agents for a wooden shed manufacturer based in Ireland and as such your address and shed requirement details will be passed on for them to fulfill.

If you have any questions about wood types or any extras, call us at 01 864 4247 for more information.

Wood Types & Extras

Rustic

Rustic Wood is the most basic and thinnest wood that we offer. It is 10mm thick, rough overlapping sheeting. These sheds are not air-tight and they can become damp in wet weather. We would not recommend that you store anything that can be damaged by damp in a Rustic Shed. These sheds need to be treated every 12 months to keep them in good condition.

Deluxe

Deluxe Wood is over twice as thick as Rustic Wood. It is 22mm thick and the panels lock in together. It is a tongue and groove planed timber, meaning that the panels slot into each other. Deluxe Wood is the most common wood choice for Wooden Sheds in Ireland. It will need to be treated every 18-24 months to ensure a long lasting life.

Barrel Board (Denoted as BB)

These are 22mm thick, log-effect boards. They are a popular choice because of their unique look. Barrel Board is Pressure Treated as standard (more on this below) and it comes with a breathable membrane lining as standard too!

Pressure Treatment (Denoted as PT)

Pressure treated isn't a wood style, but rather an option that you can add to your wood style. It's the addition of preservatives that is pumped into the wood (it's not just a top layer coating). The treating prevents the ill effects of water, fungus or insects, such as termites. Pressure Treated wood does not require as much maintenance as non treated wood.

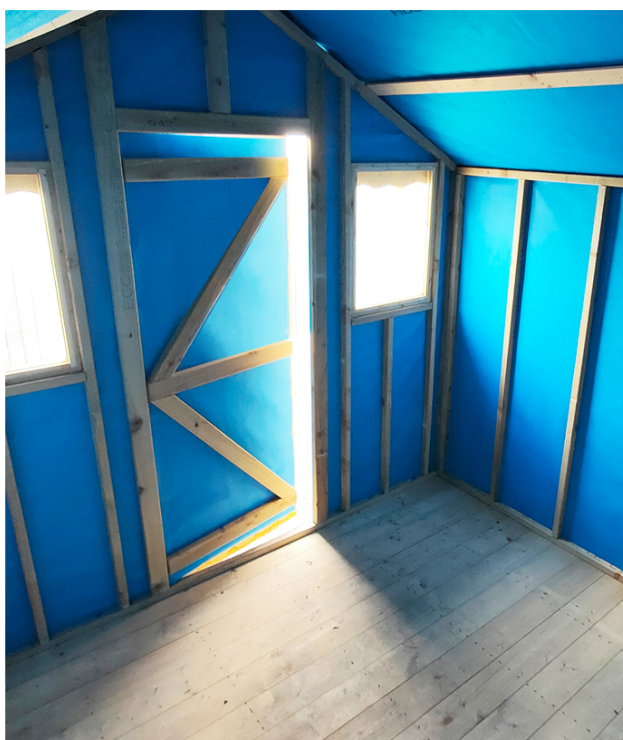

There is a slight colour difference between the two also, as seen in the picture to the right, which will occur over time. Only Pressure Treated Deluxe and Barrel Board wooden sheds all come with an internal blue membrane lining too. You can paint over PT boards if you wish too, however it is not required.

OVERHANG STYLE

The Overhang wooden shed is a Standard style wooden shed with a 18" / 1.66ft / 46cm overhang on the front apex. It offers shelter from the rain, provides shade in the sun and it can even provide emergency shelter for the cat or dog should the elements suddenly change.

*BLOCKS NEEDED' REFERS TO HOW MANY 3" / 4" SOLID CONCRETE BLOCKS THAT YOU WILL NEED TO HAVE ON SITE FOR THE WOODEN ASSEMBLY TEAM TO BUILD YOUR SHED UPON. THE WOODEN ASSEMBLY TEAM CANNOT SUPPLY THESE BLOCKS (THEY'D JUST HAVE A VAN FULL OF BLOCKS!), SO IT'S IMPORTANT THAT YOU HAVE THESE READY ON THE DAY. EACH BLOCK SHOULD COST APPROX €2-4 FROM A BUILDER'S MERCHANTS. YOU DON'T NEED TO PLACE THEM IN ANY SPECIFIC MANNER IN YOUR GARDEN, JUST HAVE THEM ON SITE AND THE TEAM WILL USE AS NEEDED.

For full T&C's and all of the IMPORTANT bits see ShedsDirectIreland.com
